

C. Ballard, J. C. Seecrest and C. Hilliard.—Commissioners of Public Buildings, William Read and Dixon Barnes.

Before this reaches you, all the members will be wending their way homeward, as well as your humble reporter. If your readers are pleased with my account of the proceedings at the capitol in Columbia, I hope they may be better pleased with my "dotting," from the capitol in Washington. Hoping that your "Ledge" may never contain a bad account, I have nothing more to do but to bid you an adieu, and also, as all authors say, to your "gentle readers."

Romantic Lover.

A romantic story is related of an Englishman, who sought the hand of a very charming lady with whom he was passionately in love, but who constantly refused him. As he had reason to believe she loved him, he entreated to know the reason why she refused her consent to his constancy, told him that her only motive for refusing him was, that having by an accident lost a leg, it had been replaced by a wooden one, and she feared that sooner or later this circumstance would chill his affection for her. This she declared to be her only motive. The lover protested that this would never make him change his love, but she persisted in refusing to marry him. Fired with love, and determined that nothing should obstruct his design, he, under the pretence of going a distant voyage, left his lady, and hastened to Paris, where he had one of his own legs amputated. When he recovered, he returned to London, went to the lady, and told her that there was now no obstacle to their union, for that he was equally mutilated as herself. The lady, conquered by such a proof of affection, at last consented to marry him.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—We regret to learn that Jesse Brunfield, Esq., residing near Ebenezer, in this District, while out hunting some eight or ten days since, accidentally discharged his gun, the load entering his arm, shoulder and breast, which caused his death on Monday evening last.—Yorkville Miscellany.

A Predicament.

The Louisville Courier tells a story of a romantic youth in that city who got into a bad fix not long since. He was out in one of the fashionable streets serenading some of the fair damsels, and when he was about arousing one of them by singing one of his charming melodies, was attacked in the rear by a ferocious cur, who seized him by the pants, and not only frightened him considerably, but deprived him of both pants and coat and would probably have torn him to pieces, had it not been for the timely assistance of the young lady whom he was serenading and her mother, who were aroused by his shrieking cries for help. They arrived just in time to release him from his perilous situation with no other damage save the loss of coat and pants. The dog was undoubtedly clamed, as he stuck to him closely.

Rich Scene.—A Runaway Match.

A short time since, a pair arrived in our city, and might have been seen wending their way to the residence of one of our ministers—one of the pair being a young and verdant-looking youth, and the other a lady of whom one could well say, comparing her to the intended groom, "what he did not know she could teach him, for she was old enough." After much trouble, the young man had found the place where to get the "papers to marry by," and the twin were soon bound in the silken cords of matrimony.

Soon afterwards they appeared upon the street, when the bride pretended to fix the groom's collar, concluding by giving him a "buss," which highly delighted a number of boys who happened to be present.

"You are too late, father," answered the son; "I am married."

"Eh! what—married, are you! take that!" and the youth's cheek received the open hand of his father.

The old fellow pulled and tugged, and finally succeeded in separating his son from the bride, and the two started down the street. Arriving at a pump, the old gentleman took a drink of water, and again collaring his son, he proceeded on his way, followed by a large crowd of men and boys. Near the public square, he lectured his son on the sin of running off and getting married against consent, and concluded by slapping his jaws, when a crowd interfered and separated them. The son started on a full run up the street, when the bride perceived him, clasped her hands with joy, and running to him, they clasped hands and started in a gallop; the last seen of them, they were going down the Baltimore turnpike, followed by a crowd of little boys.—Cumberland (Md.) Telegraph.

Death of Robert Martin, Esq.

The shaft of death has again struck down another of our merchants. Mr. Robert Martin, who has for many years been at the head of one of our largest mercantile establishments, and a Director of one of our Banks, died in this City on yesterday morning, after a protracted illness. Mr. Martin combined with his practical knowledge as a man of business, those private virtues which command general respect.

C. E. News.

A Melancholy Affair.

The St. Louis Republican of the 9th inst., says:

John Rover, the young man who killed Miss Shubert at the ball in the upper part of the city, on Saturday last, has for several years been employed as clerk in a hardware store in this city. The circumstances under which the death occurred are of a shocking nature. Rover had a difficulty with some person in the ball-room, and, surrounded by men and women, shot at his opponent, the ball striking and killing Miss Shubert.

A partial examination of Rover, on motion to bail, was recently held before Justice

Cadey, when the evidence elicited went to show that there was a general row in the ball-room, and that Rover only fired his pistol after having been assaulted by a number of the company with bottles and other missiles, by which he was severely injured when retreating.

A gentleman in Virginia had a standing bet for twelve or fifteen years, that it would rain the first Saturday of every August, which he has won every year except one. Another gentleman bet that it would rain the twenty-fifth of July, and won it. He says that it has never failed to do so for the last sixteen years.

ANOTHER SCIENTIFIC WONDER.

Important to Dyspeptics!—Dr. J. S. Houghton's Pepsin, The True Digestive Fluid, or Gastric Juice, prepared from Rennet or the Fourth Stomach of the Ox, after directions of Baron Liebig, the great Physiological Chemist, by J. S. Houghton, M.D., Philadelphia. This is truly a wonderful remedy for Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Liver Complaint, constipation and Debility, curing after Nature's own Method, by Nature's own Agent, the GASTRIC JUICE. Pamphlets, containing Scientific evidence of its value, furnished by Agents gratis. See notice among the medical advertisements. 31

AN Ounce of FACT, is worth a pound of theory; and the swarm of conclusive facts that cluster round that incompressible preparation, Houghton's German Bitters, prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson, Philadelphia, establishing its value as a tonic and restorative, are such as would prevent incredulity itself from questioning its efficacy. In all cases of diseases of the stomach, whether acute or chronic, it may be recommended for its soothing, cordial, and renovating influence. Dyspepsia, heartburn, loss of appetite, nausea, nervous tremors, relaxation, debility, &c. are relieved by the bitters in a very short space of time; and a perseverance in their use never fails to work a thorough cure. 22—2m

$100 Reward

REANWAY, during the month of September last, from the plantation of the late Mrs. Martha Cunningham, in Lancaster District, South Carolina, a negro man named JIM, said negro about 40 years of age, a mulatto, about 5 feet 8 or 10 inches high, stoop-shouldered, and looks down when spoken to. As suspicion rests upon him as being implicated in the murder of Mrs. Cunningham, he has no doubt absconded from fear of the consequences. I will pay the above reward, if delivered at any jail so that I can rest easy.

BRITISH PERIODICAL PUBLICATIONS.

Delivered in all the principal Cities in the United States, FREE OF POSTAGE, and forwarded by mail, under the provisions of the late Post-Office Law, at MERELY NOMINAL RATES.

1 The London Quarterly Review (Conservative).

2 The Edinburgh Review (Whig).

3 The North British Review (Free Church).

4 The Westminster Review (Liberal).

5 Blackwood's Edinburgh Magazine (Tory).

Although these works are distinguished by the political shades above indicated, yet but a small portion of their contents is devoted to political subjects. It is their literary character which gives them their chief value, and in that they stand confessedly far above all other journals of their class. Blackwood, still under the fatherly care of Christopher North, maintains its ancient celebrity, and is, at this time, unusually attractive, from the serial works of Bulwer and other literary notables, written for that magazine, and first appearing in its columns both in Great Britain and in the United States. Such works as "The Captains" and "My New Novel," (both by Bulwer), "The Green Hand," "Katie Stewart," and other serials of which numerous rival editions are issued by the leading publishers in this country, have to be reprinted by those publishers from the pages of Blackwood, after it has been issued by Messrs. Scott & Co., so that Subscribers to the Reprint of that Magazine may always rely on having the earliest reading of these fascinating tales.

TERMS.

For any two of the four Reviews.....5 00

For any three of the four Reviews.....7 00

For all four of the Reviews.....8 00

For Blackwood's Magazine.....3 00

For Blackwood & three Reviews.....9 00

For Blackwood & the four Reviews.....10 00

Payments to be made in all cases in advance. Money current in the State where issued will be received at par.

CLUBBING.

A discount of twenty-five per cent, from the above prices will be allowed to Clubs ordering four or more copies of any one or more of the above works. Thus four copies of Blackwood, or of one Review, will be sent to one address for $9; four copies of the four Reviews and Blackwood for $30; and so on.

Reduced Postage.

The following table will show the great reduction which has been made on these Periodicals since 1844, and the very trifling rates now charged.

Per annum. Prior to 1845, the postage on Blackwood was $2 40; on a single Review 1 12; From 1845 to 1851, on Blackwood 1 00; on a Review 50; In 1851-52 (average rate) on Blackwood 75; on a Review 38. The present postage on Blackwood, is 24; on a Review 12.

(The rates are now uniform for all distances within the United States.)

At these rates surely no objection should be made to receiving the works by mail, and thus ensuring their speedy, safe, and regular delivery.

Remittances and communications should be always addressed, post-paid to the Publishers.

PROSPECTUS

THE LANCASTER LEDGER.

ON THE first of January next, this paper will be enlarged and greatly improved. The Editor is happy to announce to his readers, that he has made such arrangements, as will enable him to give weekly, a news letter from Charleston, the metropolis of the State, Washington City and New York. These letters will be written by men of experience and information, and all matters of general interest will be faithfully chronicled.

These arrangements require a considerable outlay, but the evidence we have received the first year, encourage us to march onward and give our readers a weekly paper inferior to none in the Southern Country.

We cannot reduce our price from two dollars but any person sending us six new subscribers and twelve dollars, will receive the Ledger one year gratis.
